

Our project is based on a revolutionary way of saying goodbye to your loved ones. We use the ashes of a person to plant a tree in a "green graveyard", symbolizing that life can emerge from the loss of a loved one. This project is designed to meet two objectives: counteract deforestation and psychologically help people who find it difficult to deal with death.

If we plant a tree for each person who dies, we will easily help to deal with global warming. We also help to overcome the loss of someone since we convey the feeling that that person is still with you as a tree, and that they are taking care of you.
