

Customer relationships

The quality of customer service is highly important to us. Our workers will be skilled and will maintain close ties with the customer. When buying our products the workers will ensure the customers that their money will go towards a good cause, therefore making the customers choose us instead of walking more and going to starbucks, where they will have higher prices and no other objectives.